

Kyle Capehart

🌐 kylecapehart.com | ✉ kyleacapehart@gmail.com | in/kyle-capehart | 🎧 k-capehart | 📍 Orlando, FL

Skills

Languages: Go, TypeScript, JavaScript, Python, Java, Apex, SQL

Technologies: Git, GitHub Actions, Jira

Leadership: Leading teams, mentoring developers, balancing priorities

Experience

Sr. Software Engineer @ ATD

Feb 2023 – Present

- Technical lead for a team implementing enterprise solutions in Salesforce
- Automated CI/CD release pipeline using GitHub Actions
- Worked on onboarding app built with Python to sync data between CRM and internal services
- Developed e-commerce solutions with Java and Angular (TypeScript)

Software Developer @ Deloitte

July 2019 – Feb 2023

- Led team through architecture meetings
- Oversaw quarterly releases for an application used by the federal government
- Automated data loading tasks using Python REST API wrapper
- Created front-end components using Salesforce's Lightning framework
- Built out a weekly batch job written in Apex that generated millions of lines of data

Software Developer Intern @ Siemens

May 2018 – June 2019

- Automated data migration in AWS S3 buckets
- Maintained a Customer Portal for internal product inventory
- Wrote Apex code and VisualForce pages in Salesforce based on requirements from product owners

Projects

Go-Salesforce | k-capehart/go-salesforce

- A Salesforce REST API wrapper written in Go
- Enables Go developers to interact with Salesforce and export/import large datasets

SF CLI Plugin | k-capehart/kc-sf-plugin

- A custom plugin for the Salesforce CLI that automates apex trigger generation written in TypeScript
- Includes a number of pre-defined templates using well known apex design patterns

Open Source Contributions

- Contributed to the official SF CLI, including a new authentication method and improved apex test result output
- Custodian of the Lightning Flow Scanner, a collection of tools used to scan Salesforce flows to enforce best practices

Education & Certifications

University of Central Florida

B.S. in Computer Science

Jun 2019

Salesforce Certifications

Platform Developer II, Platform Developer I, Platform App Builder, Administrator